

For Whom is the Program Designed?

Religious and Laity who will be engaged in the ministry of formation for their prospective communities will find that this program provides them with the skills necessary for accompanying new members.

General Principles

The program is designed around general principles which we believe are essential to the process of training personnel for the ministry of formation.

1. Emphasis on the central goal of supporting the growth of participants towards personal and spiritual integration.
2. Emphasis on the physical, emotional and mental well-being of participants as well as on their spiritual and professional growth throughout their lives but particularly while engaged in the challenging ministry of formation.
3. Awareness of the need for opportunities for developing improved communication and professional skills, especially in the art of accompaniment.
